Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Your IAM Negotiating Committee continued to meet with Onex/AIT over the past week. We have been covering a wide range of topics, and discussions continue to be positive and productive.

Much of our focus this week was spent identifying key transition issues that will help ensure that our members get off to a good start with the new company, while underscoring the importance of a foundation built around honoring seniority and fairness.

Sub-committees have also begun to meet on topics such as Healthcare, Seniority and Contract Language. The new company continues to be open and receptive to the needs of our members. Both parties are committed to structuring a wages and benefits package that protects our members while providing for flexibility and shared prosperity.

Plans are to resume meetings next week. As always, we appreciate your patience and support as we continue to bargain with Onex/AIT to keep union jobs here in Wichita, Kansas and to help create and establish a state-of-the-art fabrication and machining company that is positioned for growth, competitiveness and success for all parties.

Please take a moment today to remember the victims of the World Trade Center attacks on this date fourteen years ago.

In Solidarity,

Frank Molina, DBR
